INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the new Rowman & Littlefield International Philosophy catalogue. We have a host of new titles publishing in the coming months, on a diverse range of topics, from climate justice to the European crisis, from the ethics of immigration to the value of literature.

Our list is interdisciplinary, critical, innovative and globally diverse, qualities that are particularly apparent in one of the highlights of this season's list, Environmental Humanities - an advanced textbook for a fast-growing, global and multidisciplinary field (p. 11). We're also delighted to announce the launch of several new series, including Reframing Continental Philosophy of Religion (p. 6) and Groundworks (p. 5); the latter foregrounds some of the lesser-known, but hugely influential, thinkers and texts in modern European philosophy.

Our programme of scholarly monographs, translations, edited collections and advanced supplementary textbooks represents the cutting edge of some of the most exciting areas of the discipline. Please do get in touch if you have ideas for new projects or thoughts on how the list is developing. We look forward to hearing from you.

FOUCAULT ON THE ARTS AND LETTERS

Perspectives for the 21st Century

Edited by Catherine M. Soussloff

“This collection demonstrates the continuing productivity of Foucault’s thinking for understanding a surprisingly wide range of the arts: literature, painting, photography, even dance and music. The essayists offer insightful commentaries on concepts such as archaeology, heterotopia, and the aesthetics of existence, while interpreting Foucault’s explorations on figures from Shakespeare to Beckett, from Bosch to Bacon, and many others.”

THE VALUE OF LITERATURE

By Rafe McGregor

“Smart, provocative, and engaging, The Value of Literature is a must-read for anyone with an interest in the philosophy of literature. McGregor reinvigorates debates on the cognitive value of literature, the ethical significance of narrative, the aesthetics of appreciation, and the nature of literary value itself. This book is a major achievement.”

IN DEFENSE OF READING

By Sarah Worth

Why should we read? We assume that reading is good for us, but often we cannot articulate exactly what it does for us. In this fascinating book, Sarah Worth addresses from a philosophical perspective the many ways in which reading benefits us morally, socially and cognitively.

KNOWING AND ACTING IN MEDICINE

Edited by Robyn Bluhm

Medical decision-making, whether in the clinic or at the policy level, can have serious and far-reaching consequences. It is therefore important to base decisions on the best available knowledge. Yet deciding what should count as the best available knowledge is not easy. This important book is the first volume in the rapidly growing field of philosophy of medicine to focus on the relationship between knowledge and clinical practice and policy.

THE ETHICS OF TECHNOLOGY

Methods and Approaches

Edited by Sven Ove Hansson

In this important new book, an international team of leading experts in the field provides the first comprehensive treatment of the methods available for ethical assessments of technologies and their social introduction. The book explores how information from empirical research can be used in ethical analyses of technology and includes sections dedicated to ethical analysis and normative ethics.

COMMUNICATION AND EXPRESSION

Adorno's Philosophy of Language

By Philip Hogh

Translated by Antonia Hofstätter

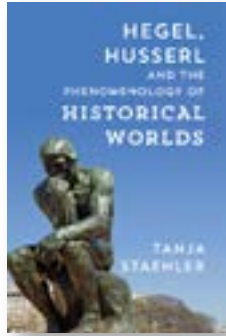

This book is a systematic reconstruction of Adorno's philosophy of language in the framework of contemporary linguistic philosophy. It analyses the key concepts in Adorno's thought and compares them to Robert Brandom's material inferentialism, John McDowell's theory of conceptual experience and Jürgen Habermas' theory of communicative action.

HEGEL, HUSSERL AND THE PHENOMENOLOGY OF HISTORICAL WORLDS

By Tanja Staehler

This book offers the first study that relates the works of two of the most significant philosophers in our history, Hegel and Husserl, who both called their philosophies phenomenology. Tanja Staehler explores how Husserl radicalises Hegel's philosophy by providing an account of historical movement as open and in doing so explains the main concepts (history, world, culture, philosophical method) of these two major philosophers in straightforward terms.

GROUNDWORKS

Series edited by Arne De Boever, Jon Roffe, Bill Ross and Ashley Woodward

What are the hidden sources that determine the contemporary moment in continental thought? This series includes important French, German and Italian texts that form the lesser-known background to prominent work in contemporary continental philosophy.

THE DIALECTIC OF DURATION

By Gaston Bachelard
Translated by Mary McAllester Jones. Introduction by Cristina Chimisso

"Bachelard's strikingly original conception of time shapes both his philosophy of science and his work on the poetic imagination. Beginning with discontinuity, he explores the way different forms of duration are constructed, bringing out the unique qualities of each. It is a brilliant study of temporal pluralism, dedicated to repose, creativity, and happiness."

THE GENESIS OF LIVING FORMS

By Raymond Ruyer. Translated by Jonathan Roffe and Nicholas B. de Weydenthal

The philosophy of Raymond Ruyer was an important if subterranean influence on twentieth-century French thought, and explicitly engaged with by figures such as Maurice Merleau-Ponty, Georges Canguilhem, Gilbert Simondon, and Gilles Deleuze. The Genesis of Living Forms is Ruyer's most focussed and forceful analysis of a central but apparently paradoxical biological phenomenon that also presents serious problems for philosophy: embryogenesis.

REFRAMING CONTINENTAL PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION

Series edited by Steven Shakespeare and Duane Williams, both Liverpool Hope University

Reframing Continental Philosophy of Religion aims to revitalise continental philosophy of religion. It challenges the standard Western Christian framework which has dominated philosophy of religion in the academy. It provides a platform for voices, theories and traditions which have been suppressed or marginalised by that framework, and offers genuinely new and constructive openings in the field.

SIMONE WEIL AND CONTINENTAL PHILOSOPHY

Edited by Rebecca A. Rozelle-Stone

Offering new insight into the pertinence of Simone Weil's thought, this volume situates her in the Continental discourses which constituted her philosophical background, her milieu, and which frequently reflected her departures from her contemporaries. The book includes fresh critical perspectives on the philosophies of prominent twentieth and twenty-first century theorists like Foucault, Blanchot, Merleau-Ponty, Levinas, Agamben, and Rancière.

NEW HEIDEGGER RESEARCH

Series edited by Gregory Fried and Richard Polt

The goal of the New Heidegger Research series is to promote informed and critical dialogue that breaks new philosophical ground by taking into account the full range of Heidegger's thought, as well as the enduring questions raised by his work. The series includes monographs and anthologies that come to grips with Heidegger's thought or draw inspiration from it, as well as English translations of newly available and un-translated texts by Heidegger himself.

PROTO-PHENOMENOLOGY AND THE NATURE OF LANGUAGE

Dwelling in Speech I

By Lawrence J. Hatab

In this fascinating and important book, Lawrence J. Hatab presents a new vocabulary for Heidegger's early phenomenology of being-in-the-world and applies it to the question of language. The book critically addresses standard theories of language, such that standard questions in the philosophy of language are revised in a manner that avoids binary separations of language and world, speech and cognition, theory and practise, realism and idealism, internalism and externalism.

CORRESPONDENCE 1949-1975

*By Martin Heidegger and Ernst Jünger
Translated by Timothy Sean Quinn*

"With this elegant translation, Timothy Sean Quinn allows us to eavesdrop on a fascinating conversation: two prolific authors, moved by Nietzsche to confront nihilism, discuss their writings and share life's moments ... The humanity of the thinker strikingly emerges in these beautifully rendered exchanges."

NEW PHILOSOPHIES OF SEX AND LOVE

Thinking Through Desire

Edited by Sarah LaChance Adams, Christopher M. Davidson and Caroline R. Lundquist

In twelve original and philosophically thought-provoking essays, this volume challenges some of our most prevalent assumptions relating to identity, the body, monogamy, libido, sexual identity, seduction, fidelity, orgasm, and more. Ideal for students both in philosophy and gender studies, this highly readable book takes us to the very heart of two of the most important dimensions of human experience and meaning-making: to the seductive and alluring, confusing and frustrating, realms of love and sex.

“An eclectic and fascinating collection. Diverse perspectives and approaches are brought to bear on a broad range of issues concerning sex and love.”

THE ANIMAL INSIDE

Essays at the Intersection of Philosophical Anthropology and Animal Studies

Edited by Geoffrey Dierckxsens, Rudmer Bijlsma, Michael Begun and Thomas Kiefer

A team of renowned philosophers and a new generation of thinkers come together to offer the first book-length examination of the relationship between philosophical anthropology and animal studies. The first part of the book offers general explorations of the relation between animal and human nature whereas the chapters in the second part focus on specific aspects of animal and human nature: imagination, politics, history, sense, finitude, and science.

STANLEY CAVELL AND PHILOSOPHY AS TRANSLATION

The Truth is Translated

Edited by Naoko Saito and Paul Standish

The essays in this volume explore philosophical questions about translation, especially in the light of the work of Stanley Cavell. They take the questions raised by translation to be of key importance not only for philosophical thinking but for our lives as a whole. The book brings together philosophers and translators with common interests in Cavell and in the questions of language at the heart of his work.

THE CHANGING FACE OF ALTERITY

Communication, Technology and Other Subjects

Edited by David J. Gunkel, Ciro Marcondes Filho and Dieter Mersch

“Whenever philosophy speaks, it does so in response to the other whispering behind philosophical reason. In this volume, the contributors turn to look at the other face to face, demonstrating cogently how alterity ... stands at the very foundation of our thinking and communicative practices. Contextually sensitive and historically informed, this collection provides us with an up-to-date guide for the communicatively perplexed.” —Briankle G. CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES ON THEORY, CULTURE AND POLITICS

Series edited by Chris Weedon, Glenn Jordan, Laurent Milesi, Radhika Mohanram and Chris Norris

Critical Perspectives on Theory, Culture and Politics is a new interdisciplinary series developed in partnership with the Centre for Critical and Cultural Theory based in the School of English, Communication and Philosophy at Cardiff University. This interdisciplinary series focuses on innovative research produced at the interface between critical theory and cultural studies. One of the aims of this series is to foster a renewed dialogue between Cultural Studies and Critical and Cultural Theory in its rich, multiple dimensions.

CHINESE SUBJECTIVITIES AND THE BEIJING OLYMPICS

By Gladys Pak Lei Chong

Chinese Subjectivities and the Beijing Olympics develops the Foucauldian concept of productive power through examining the ways in which the Chinese government tried to mobilize the population to embrace its Olympic project through deploying various sets of strategies and tactics. It argues that the multifaceted strategies, tactics, and discourses deployed by the Chinese authorities sustain an order of things and values in such a way that drive individuals to commit themselves actively to the goals of the party-state.

CREOLE IN THE ARCHIVE

Imagery, Presence and the Location of the Caribbean Figure

By Roshini Kempadoo

Creole in the Archive uses photographic analysis to explore portraits, postcards and social documentation of the colonial worker between 1850 and 1960 and contemporary, often digital, visual art by post-independent, postcolonial Caribbean artists. Drawing on Derridean ideas of the archive, the book reconceptualises the Caribbean visual archive as contiguous and relational.

THE EXTREME IN CONTEMPORARY CULTURE

States of Vulnerability

By Pramod K. Nayar

The Extreme in Contemporary Culture brings four apparently distinct categories to propose that cultures of extremes embody a new materialism as a response to the increasing virtuality, precarity and 'dematerialization' of lives since the late 20th century. It examines extremity as a political and cultural phenomenon in the late 20th and early 21st century and argues that we can discern a 'continuum of extremes/extremity' on which we may locate practices as diverse as Abu Ghraib, extreme sports, biomedical TV series and horror films.

SUPERPOSITIONS

Laruelle and the Humanities

Edited by Rocco Gangle and
Julius Greve

This book examines the relevance of François Laruelle’s innovative notion of non-standard philosophy to critical and constructive discourses in the humanities. It brings together essays from prominent Anglophone scholars of Laruelle’s work and includes a contribution from Laruelle himself. It should be of interest to students and scholars interested in non-standard philosophy across the humanities.

THE ATTENTION ECONOMY

Labour, Time and Power
in Cognitive Capitalism

By Claudio Celis Bueno

The attention economy is a notion that explains the growing value of human attention in societies characterised by post-industrial modes of production. In a world in which information and knowledge become central to the valorisation process of capital, human attention becomes a scarce and hence increasingly valuable commodity. This book develops a critique of the concept of the attention economy from the perspectives of labour, time, and power.

COMPARATIVE METAPHYSICS

Ontology After Anthropology
Edited by Pierre Charbonnier,
Gildas Salmon and Peter Skafish

“This is an exceptionally stimulating collection of essays by seriously brilliant writers. If you think the ontological turn is simply something to be for or against this is not for you. But if you are after some powerfully reflexive thinking that puts the comparative at the foundation of existence then this will not only make you ‘turn’, it will make you jump, dig tunnels and fly.”

CRITICAL THEORIES OF CRISIS IN EUROPE

From Weimar to the Euro
Edited by Poul F. Kjaer and Niklas Olsen

“Europe today is not Weimar, but Weimar is not as far away as we might believe, is one of several memorable conclusions in this impressive volume which sheds historical light on today’s European crisis. Kjaer and Olsen have gathered and guided an outstanding team which provides deep and new insights on a phenomenon which accompanies modernity since early on.” —Bo Stråth, Professor Emeritus in Nordic, European and World History, University of Helsinki

POLITICS OF DIVINATION

Neoliberal Endgame and the Religion of Contingency
By Joshua Ramey

“Ramey is an authority on the relations between philosophy and the hermetic traditions ... Ramey, in this compelling and fascinating book, makes the argument that neoliberalism resorts to analogous techniques in its quest to understand an economic world shot-through with contingency and undecidability.” —Kenneth Surin, Professor of Literature and Professor of Religion and Critical Theory, Duke University

CLIMATE JUSTICE AND GEOENGINEERING

Ethics and Policy in the Atmospheric Anthropocene

Edited by Christopher J. Preston

ENVIRONMENTAL HUMANITIES

Voices from the Anthropocene

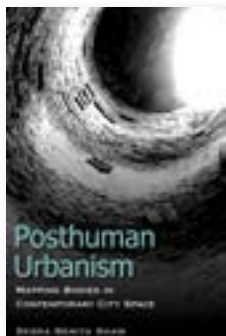

Edited by Serpil Oppermann and Serenella Iovino

“Oppermann and Iovino have assembled a creative, diverse essay collection, international in scope, often speculative and passionate, and committed to transdisciplinarity. If the Anthropocene usually signifies boosterish techno-optimism or dire eco-apocalypse, this book offers the hope, at least, of keener intelligence about what the humanities can be as we enter an era of profound, geologic uncertainty.”

POSTHUMAN URBANISM

Mapping Bodies in Contemporary City Space

By Debra Benita Shaw

The World Health Organisation estimates that, by 2030, six out of every ten people in the world will live in a city. Posthuman Urbanism evaluates the relevance and usefulness of posthuman theory to understanding the urban subject and its conditions of possibility. It argues that contemporary science and technology is radically changing the way that we understand our bodies and that understanding ourselves as ‘posthuman’ offers new insights into urban inequalities.

PLACE, MEMORY, AFFECT

Series edited by Neil Campbell and Christine Berberich

Place, Memory, Affect is an interdisciplinary series interested in proposals that seek to extend and deepen debates around the intersections of place, memory, and affect in innovative and challenging ways. In particular, the series will publish monographs and edited collections which identify and explore trends, key concepts and theories being discussed across the disciplines and engage with, interrupt, and unsettle notions of place and space.

AFFECTIVE CRITICAL REGIONALITY

By Neil Campbell

“Reaching across a diversity of writings Campbell brings the idea of the region into life in a newly human way, situating it amongst the variety of what makes up being alive. The text persistently inspires and enriches. He meshes the variety of key sources and with unusual clarity unpacks the idea of how affect works; the writing affective in itself.” —David Crouch, Professor of Cultural Geography, University of Derby

THE QUESTION OF SPACE

Interrogating the Spatial Turn Between Disciplines

Edited by Marijn Nieuwenhuis and David Crouch

The Question of Space takes a multidisciplinary approach to understanding how the spatial turn has affected disciplines as diverse as interior design and computer science. From new geographies through computer science, politics and the arts, the distinctive chapters undertake conversations that often surprisingly converge in approach, questions and insights.

AMBIVALENCE

A Philosophical Exploration

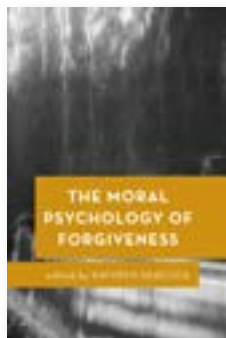

By Hili Razinsky

Combining Analytic and Continental approaches, this book provides a detailed analysis of mental ambivalence and its structures, forms and possibilities, in a philosophical context. The author explores ambivalence alongside issues relating to subjectivity, action and judgement, developing new and highly original accounts of these concepts.

THE MORAL PSYCHOLOGY OF FORGIVENESS

Edited by Kathryn J. Norlock

The feeling that one can't get over a moral wrong is challenging even in the best of circumstances. This volume considers challenges to forgiveness in the most difficult circumstances. It explores forgiveness in criminal justice contexts, under oppression, after genocide, when the victim is dead or when bystanders disagree, when many different negative reactions abound, and when anger and resentment seem preferable and important.

VALUES AND IDENTITIES: CROSSING PHILOSOPHICAL BORDERS

Series edited by Paul Crowther and Tsarina Doyle

No society can exist without values, yet with the accelerating pace of technological and societal transformations, it is increasingly difficult to determine how values are to be understood and to be negotiated when in conflict. How do values define human identity and the different activities through which this identity finds expression?

HUMAN VALUE, ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS AND SUSTAINABILITY

The Precautionary Ecosystem Health Principle

By Per Bauhn

This book argues that we should try to develop for ourselves a complex normative identity, based on the values of truth, justice, and beauty and consistent with the requirements of rational agency. Per Bauhn develops distinct but interrelated themes in moral philosophy to offer a new understanding of the relation between identity, values, meaning and agency.

VIRTUE AS IDENTITY

Emotions and the Moral Personality

By Aleksandar Fatic

"This thoroughly argued and well written book will cause a lot of controversy because it challenges some basic notions of philosophy, psychology and even law, which assume a moral autonomy of the individual. Fatic deftly argues in favour of a society that cares about its members in a moral sense rather than just satisfies material interests."

CEACOP EAST ASIAN COMPARATIVE ETHICS, POLITICS AND PHILOSOPHY OF LAW

Series edited by Philip J. Ivanhoe, Sungmoon Kim and Eirik Lang Harris

This series features path-breaking and field-defining works in East Asian comparative ethics with a special interest in works of normative and applied ethics, political theory, and philosophy of law. It includes works that are more historically grounded as well as those that are more focused on contemporary affairs and problems that meet the standards of clarity and argumentative rigor characteristic of the best philosophy in the Anglo-American tradition.

CONTEMPORARY KOREAN POLITICAL THOUGHT AND PARK CHUNG-HEE

By Jung In Kang

This important new book identifies the distinctive characteristics of the ideological terrain in contemporary (South) Korean politics and reexamines the political thought of Park Chung-hee (1917–1979), the most revered, albeit the most controversial, former president in the history of South Korea, in light of those characteristics.

FOUCAULT AND THE MAKING OF SUBJECTS

Edited by Laura Cremonesi, Orazio Irrera, Daniele Lorenzini and Martina Tazzioli

Michel Foucault's account of the subject has a double meaning: it relates to both being a "subject of" and being "subject to" political forces. This book interrogates the philosophical and political consequences of such a dual definition of the subject, by exploring the processes of subjectivation and objectivation through which subjects are produced.

CREOLIZING HEGEL

Edited by Michael Monahan

Creolizing Hegel brings together transdisciplinary scholars presenting various approaches to creolizing the work of Hegel. The essays in this volume take Hegelian texts and themes across borders of method, discipline, and tradition. The task is not simply to compare and contrast Hegel with some 'outsider' figure or tradition, but rather to reconsider and reconfigure our understandings of all of the figures and ideas brought together in these cross-disciplinary essays.

FUTURE PERFECT: IMAGES OF THE TIME TO COME IN PHILOSOPHY, POLITICS AND CULTURAL STUDIES

Series edited by Michael Marder and Patricia Vieira

The Future Perfect series stands at the intersection of critical historiography, philosophy, political science, heterodox economic theory, and environmental thought.

THE END OF THE WORLD

Contemporary Philosophy and Art

Edited by Marcia Sa Cavalcante Schuback and Susanna Lindberg

This book offers a philosophical interpretation of the reasons for the disintegration of the common world today – and means for facing this dissolution. It goes on to present a philosophical discussion around the meaning and usage of the expression 'end of the world' and explores a range of problems that representations of the end of the world in cinema and literature imply.

THE FUTURE OF MEAT WITHOUT ANIMALS

Edited by Brianne Donaldson and Christopher Carter

Plant-based and cell-cultured meat, milk, and egg producers aim to replace industrial food production with animal-free fare that tastes better, costs less, and requires a fraction of the energy inputs. This volume provides historical, material, aesthetic, and philosophical explorations of plant-based and in vitro food products, including multi-disciplinary approaches from industry, academia, and food advocates.

THE POLITICS OF VIRTUE

Post-Liberalism and the Human Future

By John Milbank and Adrian Pabst

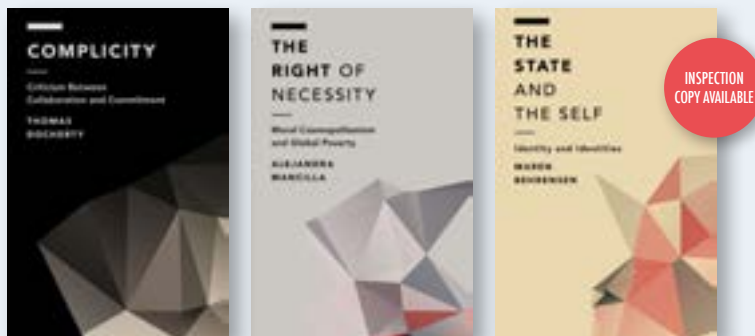

"A brilliant analysis of the triumph of economic and social liberalism and the miseries these have engendered, especially to the poorest of us. And the first signs of a clear path out of this mess, towards a politics rooted in tradition, history and social obligation. The best political book of the last five years."
—Rod Liddle, journalist and writer

OFF THE FENCE: MORALITY, POLITICS AND SOCIETY

Series edited by Bob Brecher, Robin Dunford and Michael Neu

Off the Fence presents short, sharply argued texts in applied moral and political philosophy, with an interdisciplinary focus. The series constitutes a source of arguments on the substantive issues applied philosophers are concerned with: contemporary real-world issues relating to violence, human nature, justice, equality and democracy, self and society. The series demonstrates applied philosophy to be at once rigorous, relevant and accessible – philosophy-in-use.

COMPLICITY

Criticism Between Collaboration and Commitment

By Thomas Docherty

"This is a marvellously illuminating book. Interrogating the philosophical meaning of complicity through highly original reflections on Shakespearian drama, the writing of Hannah Arendt and encompassing also the late work of the great Scottish poet Edwin Morgan, the author considers the parameters in history and the present of the drive to be compliant and complicit." —Angel McRobbie, Professor of Communications, Goldsmiths University of London

THE RIGHT OF NECESSITY

Moral Cosmopolitanism and Global Poverty

By Alejandra Mancilla

"This is a theoretically sophisticated and conceptually innovative book which posits a cosmopolitan right of necessity and explores what responses are permissibly available to the poor in forcing change to unjust structures of poverty ... truly groundbreaking"

—Garrett Wallace Brown, Reader in Political Theory, Global Ethics and Global Health Policy, University of Sheffield

THE STATE AND THE SELF

Identity and Identities

By Maren Behrensen

What makes a person the same person over time? In this fascinating and timely book, Maren Behrensen facilitates a conversation between philosophy and the 'practitioners' of identity. The book offers an answer to the metaphysical question of personal identity and tries to show how this question is of immediate relevance to the various practices of identity management – in particular in the fields of identity management, counterterrorism activities and gender reassignment.

REFRAMING THE BOUNDARIES: THINKING THE POLITICAL

Series edited by Alison Assiter and Evert van der Zwerde

This series aims to mine the rich resources of philosophers in the 'continental' tradition for their contributions to thinking the political. It fills a gap in the literature by suggesting that the work of a wider range of philosophers than those normally associated with this sphere of work can be of relevance to the political.

LOTMAN'S CULTURAL SEMIOTICS AND THE POLITICAL

By Andrey Makarychev and Alexandra Yatsyk

This book aims to inscribe the prominent Soviet semiologist Yuri Lotman into the analysis of political forms and components of power as seen from the context of various Russian-European encounters. The book demonstrates how Lotman's ideas cross disciplinary boundaries and their relevance to many European theorists of cultural studies, discourse analysis and political philosophy.

NIETZSCHE'S DEATH OF GOD AND ITALIAN PHILOSOPHY

By Emilio Carlo Corriero

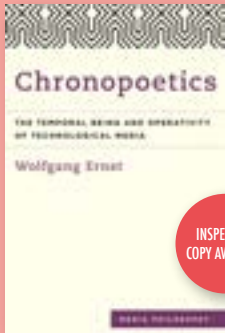

Translated by Vanessa Di Stefano

"Far from being a pure and simple annotated bibliography of Italian studies of Nietzsche in recent decades, the work of Corriero has the breadth of a true and complete panorama of a large part of recent Italian philosophy, and can contribute significantly to the theoretical debate on issues and possibilities that are still open for discussion." —Gianni Vattimo, Emeritus Professor of Philosophy at the University of Turin

CHRONOPOETICS

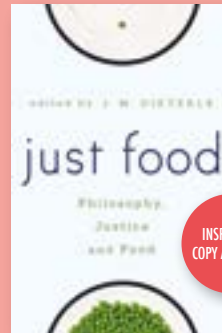

The Temporal Being and Operativity of Technological Media

By Wolfgang Ernst. Translated by Anthony Enns

"... Written by leading media theorist Wolfgang Ernst, this inspiring and provocative book cuts across so-called old and new media as well as between technical details and contemporary theory. Media philosophy unfolds as a microcosmos of temporalities." —Jussi Parikka, Professor in Technological Culture & Aesthetics, Winchester School of Art/University of Southampton, author of Insect Media

SOCIAL EPISTEMOLOGY AND TECHNOLOGY

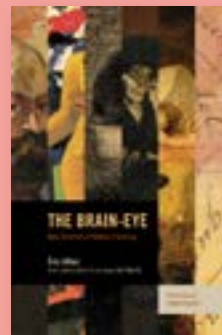

Toward Public Self-Awareness Regarding
Technological Mediation

Edited by Frank Scalabrino

"Social Epistemology and Technology offers a crucial reflection on what makes us human and how contemporary societies are organizing that knowledge in new and powerful ways. This provocative collection allows readers to consider more deeply the ways we think, share, and work today. While some conclusions are chilling, their implications cannot be ignored." —*Chris J.
