INTRODUCTION

Welcome to our Politics & International Relations catalogue, featuring titles from across our current programme. The fast-growing Politics and International Relations list continues to build on our range of cutting-edge, critical and globally-diverse scholarship, with new titles that seek to promote interdisciplinary approaches and engage with contemporary debates.

Our key areas of focus include: postcolonial and decolonial politics; radical politics; social movements and resistance; feminism, gender and masculinity; critical approaches to IR, IPE and political theory; human rights, justice and citizenship; technology and online politics; political economy and political geography.

We also publish series, in partnership with leading think tanks and policy networks, which provide a forum for knowledge exchange between the academic and policy-making communities and make this agenda-setting research available to a wider audience.

CLIMATE JUSTICE AND GEOENGINEERING

Ethics and Policy in the Atmospheric Anthropocene

Edited by Christopher J. Preston

“Preston’s Climate Justice and Geoengineering shows that in the Anthropocene the human ability to transform nature will always likely exceed our confidence in whether it is morally right to do so.”

—Mike Hulme, Professor of Climate and Culture, King’s College London

CONTESTED ENERGY POLICIES

European Climate Change Leadership and Policy Resilience

By Dr. Jale Tosun

Energy policy is often described and debated in detail, yet the field remains under-theorized. This book explores a new interdisciplinary framework for understanding EU policy contestation by simultaneously addressing the theory gap in the existing literature on EU energy policy.

ANTI-GENDER CAMPAIGNS IN EUROPE

Mobilizing against Equality

Edited by Roman Kuhar and David Paternotte

How can we explain how religious discourses about sex difference turn into massive street demonstrations? This collection is a transnational and comparative attempt to better understand anti-gender mobilizations in Europe. It focuses on national manifestations in fifteen European countries, including Russia, from massive street protests to unlikely forms of resistance.

AUSTERITY AS PUBLIC MOOD

Social Anxieties and Social Struggles

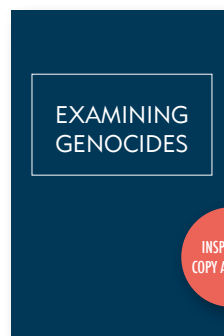

By Kirsten Forkert

Explores how politicians and the press in the UK mobilise support for 'austerity' through appealing to socially conservative conceptions of work and community. It examines the techniques of anti-austerity social movements in challenging the prevailing mood of guilt, nostalgia and resentment and how these may offer radical alternatives for social change.

EXAMINING GENOCIDES

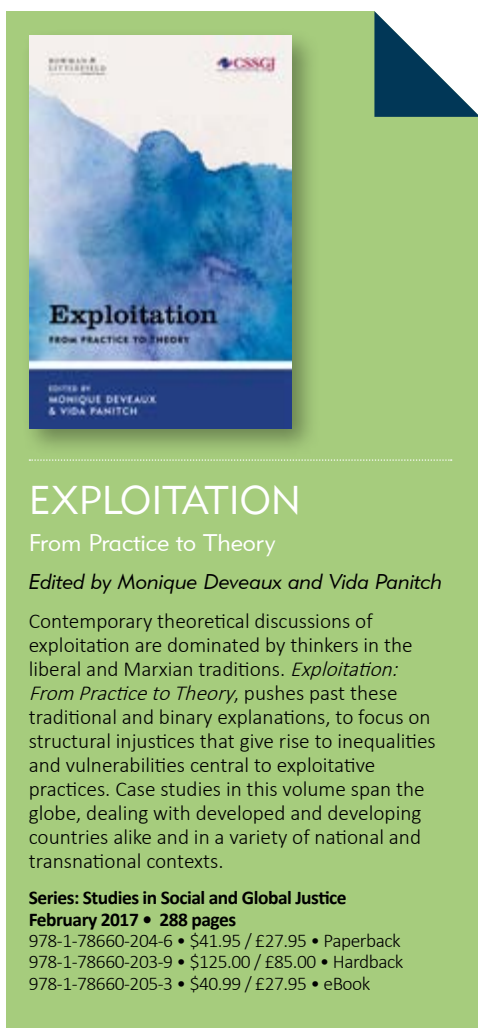

Means, Motive, and Opportunity

By Michael P. Jasinski

Mass killing through genocide haunts humanity as one of the most horrific forms of warfare. Scholars seek to understand what causes such violence, but it is still difficult to predict the onset of genocide. Why does violence sometimes stop short of the genocide threshold, whilst others cross the threshold? Why does genocide escalate and end only when the state itself collapses? Finally, why are some groups targeted and others spared? Exploring case studies that cover various levels and instances of genocide, this book offers new insights to this highly researched field for scholars and students alike.

EXPLOITATION

From Practice to Theory

Edited by Monique Deveaux and Vida Panitch

Contemporary theoretical discussions of exploitation are dominated by thinkers in the liberal and Marxian traditions. Exploitation: From Practice to Theory, pushes past these traditional and binary explanations, to focus on structural injustices that give rise to inequalities and vulnerabilities central to exploitative practices. Case studies in this volume span the globe, dealing with developed and developing countries alike and in a variety of national and transnational contexts.

NEGOTIATING DIGITAL CITIZENSHIP

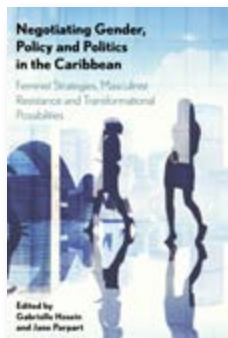

Control, Contest and Culture

Edited by Anthony McCosker, Sonja Vivienne and Amelia Johns

With pervasive use of mobile devices and social media, there is a constant tension between the promise of new forms of social engagement and the threat of misuse and misappropriation, or the risk of harm and harassment. This book challenges the assumptions behind the idea of digital citizenship in order to turn the attention to cases of innovation, social change and public good.

THE POLITICS OF EURASIANISM

Identity, Culture and Russia's Foreign Policy

Edited by Mark Bassin and Gonzalo Pozo

Deploying a variety of theoretical frameworks and perspectives, the essays in this volume work together to shed light on both Eurasianism's plasticity and contemporary weight, and examine how its tropes and discourses are appropriated, interpreted, modulated and deployed politically, by forces such as national groups and government elites. In doing so, this collection addresses essential themes and questions currently shaping the Post-Soviet world and beyond.

YOUNG PEOPLE, CITIZENSHIP AND POLITICAL PARTICIPATION

Combating Civic Deficit?

By Mark Chou, Jean-Paul Gagnon, Catherine Hartung and Lesley Pruitt

Prominent studies and opinion polls often claim to show that young people distrust politicians, they are disengaged from political institutions, and are disillusioned about democracy. But academic work conversely shows that young people are engaging with politics, merely in new and innovative ways. This book explores whether, and how, young people work with and against contemporary politics at institutional and grassroots levels.

FEMINIST INSTITUTIONALIST PERSPECTIVES

Series edited by Fiona Mackay, Elin Bjarnegård and Meryl Kenny

Published in partnership with the Feminism and Institutionalism International Network (FIIN network) this series represents the 'next stage' of development of Feminist Institutionalism (FI), a novel approach to the study of politics, which combines insights from gendered analysis and institutionalist theory to expose, understand and explain the dynamics of gendered power inequalities in public and political life and their gendered effects.

CRIMINALIZING THE CLIENT

Institutional Change, Gendered Ideas and Feminist Strategies

By Josefina Erikson

In 1998, Sweden was the first country in the world to criminalise the purchase of sexual services, but not the sale of sex. Using the feminist institutionalism approach to the analysis, this study offers new insights to the Swedish case and provides a new analytical framework for micro-level analysis of institutional change that addresses the struggle for meaning, institutionalization of new gendered ideas, and the (strategic) actions of feminist actors.

GENDER AND INFORMAL INSTITUTIONS

Edited by Georgina Waylen

Informal norms and political practices can act to facilitate or block changes to formal rules, with important consequences for efforts to promote gender equality. In this book, leading scholars develop sophisticated analytical frameworks and provide detailed empirical knowledge to further our understanding of the gendering of informal institutions. This volume takes up the challenges of gender equality in informal institutions through a feminist institutionalist lens.

GEOPOLITICAL BODIES, MATERIAL WORLDS

Series edited by Jason Dittmer and Ian Klinke

This series publishes studies that originate in a range of different fields that are nonetheless linked through their common foundation: a belief that the macro-scale of geopolitics is composed of trans-local relations between bodies and materials that are only understandable through empirical examination of those relations.

CHOREOGRAPHIES OF RESISTANCE

Mobile Bodies and Relational Politics

By Tarja Väyrynen, Eeva Puumala, Samu Pehkonen, Anitta Kynsilehto and Tiina Vaittinen

Choreographies of Resistance examines bodies and their capacity for obstructive and resistant action in places and spaces where we do not expect to see it. Drawing on empirical research that considers cases on asylum seekers, beggars, undocumented migrants and migrant nurses, the book attests to the scope and diversity of corporeal resistance in the realm of politics.

The Retreat of Social Democracy Across Europe

By Patrick Diamond

After a period of electoral dominance, centre-left parties in western Europe have suffered a dramatic erosion of support; the vote share enjoyed by social democrats is at its lowest ever level. Social democracy stands at a point of great promise, but also peril. This book explores these themes and sets the agenda for social democracy in the years to come.

TOWARDS A NEW PENSIONS SETTLEMENT

The International Experience

By Gregg McClymont and Andy Tarrant

This volume presents the recent experiences of pension reform in seven countries: Australia, Canada, Germany, Netherlands, Poland, Sweden and the United Kingdom. Faced with common problems of ageing societies and constraints on taxation levels, all are increasingly passing responsibility for saving for retirement to citizens. However, there is enormous variety between countries in the degree to which the state intervenes to mitigate the risks which the individual can face in saving for a pension.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP

ENTREPRENEURSHIP AND INSTITUTIONS

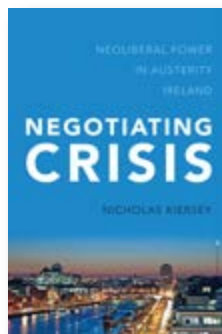

The Causes and Consequences of Institutional Asymmetry

By Tim Vorley, Nick Williams and Colin Williams

Entrepreneurship does not occur in a vacuum and institutions matter. As countries around the world strive for entrepreneurial led growth, this book considers whether institutional arrangements matter more than the institutions themselves. In doing so it draws on 12 case studies across Asia, America and Europe.

NEGOTIATING CRISIS

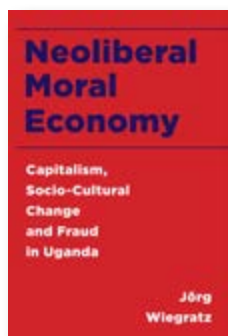

Neoliberal Power in Austerity Ireland

By Nicholas Kiersey

The financial crisis revealed the ugly side of neoliberal globalization and the international impact has been vast. This book explores how the financial crisis has been explained and experienced by the Irish people, through examples from everyday popular culture. But, it is also about more than the Ireland context: it constructs an innovative analytical framework that will be used as a model for case-focused work across critical IPE.

THE STRONG STATE AND THE FREE ECONOMY

By Prof. Werner Bonefeld

German ordoliberalism originated at the end of the Weimar Republic (1918-1933) in a context of hyper-inflation, depression, mass unemployment and social unrest. Foucault discusses ordoliberalism at length in The Birth of Biopolitics, and this book provides a thought-provoking companion to those lectures by offering a more comprehensive investigation of the theoretical foundation of ordoliberal thought and its historical and theoretical contexts.

FOUCAULT AND THE MAKING OF SUBJECTS

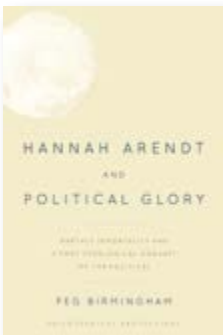

Edited by Laura Cremonesi, Orazio Irrera, Daniele Lorenzini and Martina Tazzioli

Michel Foucault's account of the subject has a double meaning: it relates to both being a "subject of" and being "subject to" political forces. This book interrogates the philosophical and political consequences of such a dual definition of the subject, by exploring the processes of subjectivation and objectivation through which subjects are produced.

THE DISCOURSE OF NEOLIBERALISM

An Anatomy of a Powerful Idea

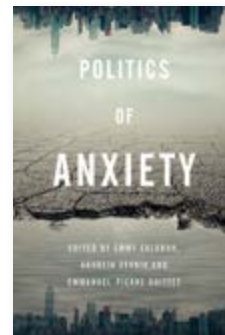

By Simon Springer

"The Discourse of Neoliberalism: An Anatomy of a Powerful Idea by Simon Springer is a welcome addition to the scholarly body of literature that now traces the intellectual development of an idea and policy platform from the viewpoint of geography. It is a passionate account that works through an approach taking the best of Marx and Foucault to understand the emergence of the most powerful and enduring discourse of the postwar era. Highly recommended."

POLITICS OF ANXIETY

Edited by Emmy Eklundh, Andreja Zevnik and Emmanuel-Pierre Guittet

From the threats posed by austerity and the fears around global migration to the unsettled notion of resistance, our political world is permeated with anxieties. This book interrogates the different faces of anxiety and provides a systematic engagement with its different manifestations. By highlighting that anxiety is different from fear, the book examines new implications for the study of political events.

OFF THE FENCE: MORALITY, POLITICS AND SOCIETY

Series edited by Bob Brecher, Robin Dunford and Michael Neu

Off the Fence presents short, sharply argued texts in applied moral and political philosophy, with an interdisciplinary focus. The series constitutes a source of arguments on the substantive issues applied philosophers are concerned with: contemporary real-world issues relating to violence, human nature, justice, equality and democracy, self and society. The series is published in partnership with CAPPE, University of Brighton.

COMPLICITY

Criticism Between Collaboration and Commitment

By Thomas Docherty

“This is a marvellously illuminating book. Interrogating the philosophical meaning of complicity through highly original reflections on Shakespearian drama, the writing of Hanna Arendt and encompassing also the late work of the great Scottish poet Edwin Morgan, the author considers the parameters in history and the present of the drive to be compliant and complicit.” —Angel McRobbie, Professor of Communications, Goldsmiths University of London

THE STATE AND THE SELF

Identity and Identities

By Maren Behrensen

What makes a person the same person over time? In this fascinating and timely book, Maren Behrensen facilitates a conversation between philosophy and the ‘practitioners’ of identity. The book offers an answer to the metaphysical question of personal identity and tries to show how this question is of immediate relevance to the various practices of identity management – in particular in the fields of identity management, counterterrorism activities and gender reassignment.

NEIGHBOURS, ALLIES, PARTNERS

Kazakhstan, Russia and the Discourse of Security

By Aida Abzhaparova

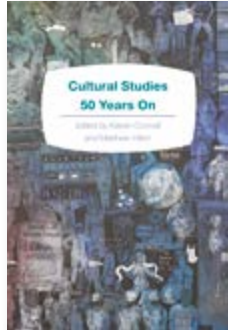

Kazakhstan was the last country to declare independence following the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991. How has Kazakhstan constructed a relationship with Russia since then? What discursive practices have come into play in order to avoid conflict? Focusing on official discourse, Neighbours, Allies, Partners argues that the relationship between Kazakhstan and Russia has been constructed in order to render conflict impossible and illustrates the significance of the construction of identities, representations and meanings in relationships between states.

CULTURAL STUDIES 50 YEARS ON

History, Practice and Politics

Edited by Kieran Connell and Matthew Hilton

Stuart Hall conceptualized his time at the Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies as a series of interruptions. It was this fluidity that gave rise to Hall’s conception of cultural studies as a ‘moving target’, a fusion of a range of disciplinary approaches that was uniquely influenced by politics in the world beyond the academy. Cultural Studies 50 Years On explores how the political, social and cultural contexts of the early 21st century influenced the object and method of doing cultural studies. In bringing together a historical reassessment of the Centre with present-day questions regarding the future of the field the aim is not to reduce cultural studies to the work of a single, now-defunct institution. Instead it aims to utilize what is a critical moment in the trajectory of the field in order to take stock of where it has come from and to explore where it might be going.

GLOBAL DIALOGUES: DEVELOPING NON-EUROCENTRIC IR AND IPE

Series edited by John Hobson and L. H. M. Ling

This series adopts a dialogical perspective on global politics, which focuses on the interactions and reciprocities between West and non-West, across Global North and Global South. Not only do these shape and re-shape each other but they have also shaped, made and remade our international system/global economy for the last 500 years. The series also seeks to register how ‘Eastern’ agency, in tandem with counterparts in the West, has made world politics and the world political economy into what it is.

HISTORICAL SOCIOLOGY AND WORLD HISTORY

Uneven and Combined Development over the Longue Durée

Edited by Alexander Anievas and Kamran Matin

“This book is a standout success in “deprovincialising” historical sociology to finally address the problems of tunnel vision, diffusionism, and the straightjacket of Eurocentrism.” —Adam David Morton, Professor, University of Sydney, author of Revolution and State in Modern Mexico: The Political Economy of Uneven Development

ISLAM AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Exploring Community and the Limits of Universalism

By Faiz Sheikh

“Faiz Sheikh judiciously examines the widely held assumption that a system of states and Islam rub uncomfortably against each other. In so doing, he rescues political Islam from radicalised interpretations and international relations from preconceived secularism. Avoiding a facile reconciliation of value pluralism and religious certainty, moreover, he sensibly holds out hope of counter-balancing restraint.” —James Piscatori, Professor of International Relations, Durham University

RE-WRITING INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

History and Theory Beyond Eurocentrism in Turkey

By Zeynep Gulsah Capan

This book tells a different story of International Relations by challenging disciplinary and theoretical boundaries from the Turkish perspective with the aim of creating a more connected and global IR.

“Zeynep Gulsah Capan masterfully reveals the Eurocentrism embedded and reinforced in International Relations for over a century.” —Brent J. Steele, Professor of Political Science, University of Utah

KILOMBO: INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AND COLONIAL QUESTIONS

Series edited by Mustapha K. Pasha, Meera Sabaratnam, Robbie Shilliam

This is the first series to mark out a dedicated space for advanced critical inquiry into colonial questions across International Relations. The ethos of this book series is reflected by the bricolage constituency of Kilombos – settlements of African slaves, rebels and indigenous peoples in South America who became self-determining political communities that retrieved and renovated the social practices of its diverse constituencies while being confronted by colonial forces.

ASYLUM AFTER EMPIRE

Colonial Legacies in the Politics of Asylum Seeking

By Lucy Mayblin

Asylum seekers are not welcome in Europe. But why is that the case? For many scholars, the policies have changed because the asylum seekers have changed. This change is often said to be about numbers, methods of travel, and reasons for flight. In short: we are in an age of hypermobility and states cannot cope with such volumes of ‘others’.

MEANINGS OF BANDUNG

Postcolonial Orders and Decolonial Visions

Edited by Quỳnh N. Phạm and Robbie Shilliam

“This pioneering volume retrieves Bandung’s entangled histories ... The book will be of significant interest to those working on colonial and post-colonial histories, the politics of development, and the terrain of ‘lived’ international relations.”

BEYOND POWER AND RESISTANCE

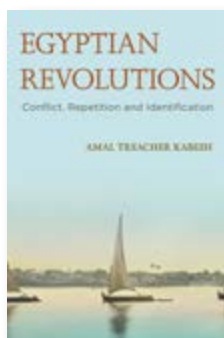

Politics at the Radical Limits

By Peter Bloom

This book challenges the conceptual and practical effectiveness of resistance to achieve social and political change, and considers an alternative framework that goes beyond a desire to resist sovereign power, but offers political movements that expand individual and collective capabilities.

EGYPTIAN REVOLUTIONS

Conflict, Repetition and Identification

By Amal Treacher Kabesh

The socio-political context of Egypt is full of the affectual burdens of history. Combining postcolonial theory with a psychosocial studies framework this book explores the complexities of inhabiting a society in a state of conflict and offers a careful analysis of current theories of gender, religion and secularism, agency, resistance and compliance, in a society riven with divisions and conflicts.

EUROPE'S RADICAL LEFT

From Marginality to the Mainstream?

Edited by Luke March and Daniel Keith

Although the most pernicious consequences of the crisis have apparently abated, the long-term political repercussions remain unclear. This work compiles contributions from leading scholars to analyse how European radical left parties have responded to the ongoing socio-economic crisis that continues to afflict the EU.

TRANSFORMING CAPITALISM

Series edited by Ian Bruff (Managing Editor), Julie Cupples, Gemma Edwards, Laura Horn, Simon Springer and Jacqui True

This book series provides a platform for the publication of path-breaking and interdisciplinary scholarship which seeks to understand and critique capitalism along four key lines: crisis, development, inequality, and resistance.

STATES OF DISCIPLINE

Authoritarian Neoliberalism and the Contested Reproduction of Capitalist Order

Edited by Cemal Burak Tansel

States of Discipline examines contemporary capitalism by bringing together original case studies that analyze the transformation of neoliberal governance into increasingly non-democratic, coercive and disciplining forms of statecraft.

THE PRACTICE OF FREEDOM

Anarchism, Geography, and the Spirit of Revolt

Edited by Richard J. White, Simon Springer and Marcelo Lopes de Souza

"This excellent collection of in-depth analyses of anarchist laboratories from all over the world is a testimony to the fact that anarchism continues to thrive as a lived emancipatory praxis – a praxis that is rooted in concrete grassroots struggles and geared towards radically challenging various forms of oppression, exploitation and social inequality." —Angela Wigger, Political Economist at Radboud University, The Netherlands

GOVERNING GLOBALIZATION

Challenges for Democracy and Global Society

By Edward A. Kolodziej

"This is a major contribution to the study of globalization and international relations. It focuses on challenges to global governance around problems of order, welfare and legitimacy ... an essential teaching resource in international relations and global studies as well as a significant reference point for researchers." —Robert Holton, Emeritus Professor of Sociology, Trinity College, Dublin and Adjunct Professor of Sociology, University of South Australia
